

Steve Baroch's Transafrika Collection

Steve has visited 54 countries. His works have been shown, printed in magazines or won awards on 3 continents. Steve's latest efforts have primarily revolved around his travels to Africa, primarily for volunteer efforts. These prints are ultra-high quality prints made by Master Printer Rick Ximenes who has printed works for the British Museum, Harvard Art Museums, Museum of New Mexico, The British Library and many internationally renowned Artists. Proceeds from Steve's Transafrika Collection go to Transafrika to provide support to the many projects that Transafrika supports in Africa. Peace Wanted Alive

Ngala

(Lion in Shangaan Language)

Steve photographed this Pride of Lions at a watering hole in the Northwest part of South Africa.

Yellow-Billed Hornbill

(Nicknamed “The Flying Banana” in Africa. It’s cousin the Red-Billed Hornbill is nicknamed “The Flying Carrot”)

Tusker

White Rhino

Also called Square Lipped Rhino (White in this case is a derivation of “weit” for “wide” lipped. Not for the color “white”).
